Message from Chairperson

Balkumari Rana

Dear Stakeholders,

The new trends of human trafficking are emerging and changing day by day in the name of foreign employment, abroad study, fake marriage, breast feeding, organ trafficking. Now a days , Nepal is being known as a resource, transit and destination country for human trafficking. Internally and externally it is in increasing in trend all over the world.

Shakti Samuha is the first non-profit organization in the world which is established and run by the survivors of human trafficking and it has been working against human trafficking since 1996. Shakti Samuha works under the three thematic areas i.e. Prevention, Protection and Capacity Building (including advocacy and lobby) program in the 13 strategic districts of Nepal and SS has recruited the representative staff in India for the better coordination and smooth rescue and repatriation process of the human trafficking survivors.

Many girls and women are living in the condition of slavery in the name of foreign employment, fake marriage, cultural show; the destination for the trafficking has been expanded from India to middle-east and up to South Africa. Many women were trafficked to illegal countries like Iraq, Kuwait in the name of the foreign employment and as a result ,they are forced to live as a bonded labor and facing the violence in various ways. Shakti Samuha's continuous communication with victims through the social sites like Face book and Viber and the close coordination with Nepal Police (CIB), NGOs, IOM, Media, we have become the successful to repatriate some of the victims from the countries like Iraq, Kuwait. Shakti Samuha has been doing advocacy for the safe repatriation of the survivors. With the advocacy of Shakti Samuha and many pioneer organizations who are working on the campaign of anti-human trafficking has collectively prepared and submitted the draft of "The Rescue and Repatriation of the survivors of human trafficking" to the Ministry with the consultation of government and non-government stakeholders. As a survivor's led organization, Shakti Samuha always raises the voice of Victim Centered Approach. Survivors themselves have produced short documentary based on their true life story which is effective to see the scenario of human trafficking from the eyes of survivors.

We are facing many problems in eradicating human trafficking due to the political instability, poverty, illiteracy, lack of opportunity, discrimination, geographical structure and natural disasters. Still, Shakti Samuha is trying to reach as much as possible way to overcome these challenges through the support of all stakeholders and Nepal government. We are grateful towards Nepal government who has been playing the supportive and effective role in coordinating all the civil society to protect girls and woman from different kinds of violence including trafficking. We express our gratitude toward Governmental bodies and system, donor partners, media journalists, all stakeholders, human rights activist and all supporters. We would like to thank board members, advisory committee, management committee, all members and staffs of their continuous and fruitful efforts. Lastly, I am thankful to the team who involved in bringing this annual report 2017.

INTRODUCTION AND HISTORY

Shakti Samuha is the globally first organization that is established and run by survivors of human trafficking in 1996 it was formally registered in 2000.

During widespread police raids in 1996, 500 girls and women were rescued from sexual slavery in Indian brothels. Among these, 200 were Nepalese girls and women. These women and girls were then locked away in remand homes in India, where conditions were as bad as - if not worse than - in prison. The Nepalese government was reluctant to bring the women and girls back to Nepal, blaming that the women and girls would bring and spread HIV all over the country as well as raising the issues on their identification.

In the absence of Government support, seven NGOs (WOREC Nepal, CWIN, ABC Nepal, Nawa Jyoti Kendra, Maiti Nepal, Shanti Punarshtapana Griha, and Istri Shakti) took the initiative to rehabilitate the girls in Nepal, to where 128 among 200 women and girls were repatriated. The seven organizations rehabilitated the women and girls dividing them in different groups matching their capacity.

After a few months, Women's Rehabilitation Center (WOREC Nepal) organized a 10-days-training on Basic Health where several aspects such as gender, human trafficking, women/human rights, and life skills were included. During that training period, we recognized that having been trafficked was not our fault. Therefore, we converted our tears into power by forming Shakti Samuha, which means Power Group. Since then Shakti Samuha has been working to organize, empower and mobilize survivors of human trafficking as well as vulnerable girls and women in the campaign against human trafficking.

Shakti Samuha has been working on the three thematic areas of prevention, protection and capacity building to ensure the rights and dignified lives of survivors of human trafficking.

After facing many challenges in the early years, Shakti Samuha was finally registered as a legally independent Non-Government-Organization (NGO) at the District Administration office in Kathmandu in 2000. The goal of Shakti Samuha is to establish a progressive society, devoid of trafficking and other kinds of violence against women. Shakti Samuha has been honored by the 'Ministry of Women, Children and Social Welfare' and received 'The Ramon Magsaysay Award' in 2013 and the French Republic Human Rights Award in 2015 and "With and For Girls Award" in 2016. These achievements, besides receiving other national and international awards, represents a testimonial of the hard efforts and invaluable contributions of Shakti Samuha's team.

Vision:

Human trafficking affected women and children will be living a dignified life in society through economic and social empowerment.

Mission:

Act as a supportive organization to involve affected women and children and those at high risk of human trafficking in anti-human trafficking campaign to ensure & protect the rights of survivors through awareness, organizing and empowering themselves

Goals:

Ensure and protect rights of women and children and those at high risk of human trafficking.

Objectives:

- To establish income generating and skills based programs that create a sustainable livelihood for trafficking survivors,
- To advocate and lobby for necessary changes to the law,
- To organize meetings and campaigns to raise awareness and minimize the risk of trafficking,
- To establish safe house and emergency support for the rehabilitation and reintegration of trafficking survivors,

SUCCESS STORY

Ms. Sita (name changed) is a member of Paurakhi Cooperative Women Group formulated by District Women Children Office. Ms. Sita was very passionate to go abroad for the foreign employment as a domestic worker. She was oriented by someone to go abroad throughout the way of India. Other members of Paurakhi Women Group make her aware about the high vulnerability of abuse and violence with the name of foreign employment as she has not enough skill. She always argued with her colleagues and all the members of women group were tired by making her aware. When Shakti Samuha started to work with Paurakhi Cooperative Women Group, two day resource mobilization training was conducted for the group members, where several training contents like human trafficking issues, resource mobilization issues, safe migration, and violence were covered during the training. At the same time, Shakti Samuha showed documentary movie to the women group members related to the anti human trafficking issues in the name of foreign employment named "Bhogai" (Shakti Samuha's own production). After watching the documentary, Ms. Sita realized about the vulnerability of human trafficking, violence and exploitation. Then she said that she changed her thought about going to abroad without required skills and capacity. Now, she shared that she wants to develop her skill and working within the country rather than going abroad. Now she has been taking a training of carpenter and she wants to earn money to look after her family. Ms. Sita has a poor economic condition. She has a daughter. Her brother in law's daughter is a child with disability. After knowing this, Shakti Samuha coordinated with District Child Welfare Board and she received Nrs 5000 as an education support. She quotes that " I learned to be skillful and capable for any kinds of work and need to promote safe migration. " She wants to educate her children. Sensitization regarding safe migration and anti human trafficking/child issues has developed towards Ms. Sita after participating in training on resource mobilization.

B. PROTECTION:

Shakti Samuha works for the protection of the survivors of human trafficking and for those women and children who are at the high risk of vulnerability of human trafficking. Shakti Samuha provides shelter supports, psychosocial supports, health support, formal and informal education support and also the different of life skills and vocational trainings as per their interest and provides friendly environment to overcome the trauma that they had suffered from.

Shakti Samuha has four shelter homes, two shelter homes in Kathmandu district, one in Kaski district (Pokhara) and one in Sindhupalchowk district which is run in the collaboration with Nepal Government.

SUCCESS STORY

Menuka (Name Changed) is an eighteen years old girl from the Sindhupalchowk district. She was born and raised in a very poor family. Menuka's mother was an alcoholic and her father was married to another women. Due to her parent's ignorance she had to look after her siblings. Due to this responsibility, Menuka was not able to attend the school so she had to drop out from the school. One day she was deceived by her relative brother who gave her a chocolate and forced her to eat and then raped her while she was unconscious. When she gained back her consciousness she realized that she had been raped.

Then with the help of other women and children office of the district she came to Shakti Samuha's shelter home in Sindhupalchowk district. From there she was sent to Shakti Safe house in Kathmandu. After coming to Shakti Safe house, she received the facilities like health check up, psychosocial counseling, non-formal education, dance classes etc. She then received trainings such as leadership development, micro enterprises training and sewing training. She has been growing day by day and learning new things. She now works at the Shakti Hastakala and is really good at what she does. The positive changes in her personality and behavior has made her a really good example for others who face similar problems. She is now staying at Sangrashil Mahila Awas run by Shakti Samuha and is really working hard to create better future for herself.

SUCCESS STORY

Gita Tamang (Name Changed) was born in Makwanpur district in a very poor family. She became a victim of human trafficking, however she was rescued from the brothel and successfully repatriated to Nepal. But to reintegrated back to family, to the society was not easy for her. She had faced the discrimination, torture from the society. Being a survivor of human trafficking she was forced to face bad behavior of her family member and even from her husband. She has given birth to 3 children (2 daughters and 1 son).

Then she came in the contact of the Regional Office of Shakti Samuha in Hetauda. She was associated with Shakti Samuha from a very long time. She wanted that what she had gone through in her life ,that should not be experienced by her children. She always had a tension about her children future. Since she was associated with Shakti Samuha from a very long time, she received Income Generation Support of Nrs. 4,00,000 and with that money, she bought the Grocery and lunch shop in the Hetauda sub-municipality from where she earns Nrs. 5000 per day. Now she is paying the college fee of her 2 daughter and school fee of her 1 son. She has also received the various training from Shakti Samuha such as Leadership training, resource mobilization training, election education and law. These trainings had bring a positive change in her life and she had become capable to fulfill the needs of her children.

PROSECUTION

Prosecution is one of the areas of anti-trafficking intervention on which lots of emphasis and resources have been placed both globally and nationally. In practice, most filed trafficking cases do not proceed as expected due to the lack of witness/victim protection, family pressure and the protection from political leader available to the alleged traffickers.

After having received shelter home services, the survivors of human trafficking get regular psychosocial counseling to heal their trauma and anxieties. Similarly, Shakti Samuha never forces them to take legal action against the trafficker but prepares them by providing legal counseling to get justice themselves. According to Shakti Samuha's experience with working with the survivors there is little chance to hostile the cases of trafficking.

Shakti Samuha takes legal action in collaboration with the Forum of Protection of People's Rights (PPR) Nepal and the Forum for Women, Law and Development (FWLD).

This year, 19 cases were filed where 8 cases were the case of human trafficking and 11 cases were the case of rape. Altogether 78 cases are running from 2010 to till this date. Decision is made on the one case only.

C. CAPACITY BUILDING

Capacity Building belongs to our beneficiaries, members (trafficking survivors) and Shakti Samuha's staff. It has helped to boost their capacity for empowerment and to enlarge the effectiveness of the ongoing activities. Shakti Samuha has been engaging the beneficiaries and members on various types of capacity building programs to boost their skills and expand their knowledge.

Shakti Samuha has been working with women trafficking survivors' groups in each working districts and has been conducting several capacity building activities, income generating and education support programs.

ADVOCACY (LOBBYING AND NETWORKING)

At the community and national level. Since its beginning, the organization is actively involved in anti-human trafficking campaigns. Similarly, Shakti Samuha has been lobbying for positive changes in the existing law and policy to get justice for survivors and to end human trafficking. We have been raising our voice to create a survivor-friendly environment in the country as survivors are still subjected to humiliation, stigmatization and isolation. This happens by their own families and community people who ignore that they were forced into slavery.

Shakti Samuha is involved in different anti-trafficking networks at the district, national and global level. Through these networks, Shakti Samuha continuously advocates to address the issues of human trafficking and to ensure the rights of survivors.

Other Activities for Advocacy:

- Many women are being trafficked to the restricted countries like Iraq in the name of the foreign employment. To repatriated them to the home country safely, this year Shakti Samuha has submitted the concentration letter to the chairperson (Honourable Mr. Anup Raj Sharma) of the National Human Rights Commision regarding the foreign employment.
- Participated in the protest against the respected Chief justice of Supreme Court Ms. Sushila Karki.
- Participated as the panelist in the Women of the World program to raise the voice against human trafficking.
- Participated in the Asia Pacific Feminist Forum Thailand to raise the voice of the survivors.

Orphan Children visit at Shakti Samuha shelter home

CHALLENGES:

- Frequently, change in dimension of Human Trafficking is a challenge in its self. (Many emerging issues are finding out day by day such as skin trafficking for the cosmetic surgery, human fat to make the cosmetic products.)
- Self willingness of women/girls in the prostitution.
- Victims are transferred as Perpetuators. Survivors of the trafficking are functioning as an agent for the organ trafficking whereas some of them are running brother by being the owner of it.
- Hastily changes in the policies of the government create obstacle and lack of The Federal System.
- No harmonization between the Human Trafficking control Act (2007) and the Foreign Employment Act.
- Lack of holistic approaches in NGOs.
- Lack of systematic referral mechanism.
- Lack of coordination between the organizations.
- Threats from the trafficker.
- Human trafficking has now been established as a network, so it is challenging for the CSOs working in this sector to track the traffickers.
- Unhealthy competition between the organizations working in the same sector.
- In the name of foreign employment, traffickers are sending women and adolescents to those countries which are not approved by the Government of Nepal.
- Frequent changes of government employees from one department to another.
- Increase in the Internal Trafficking in the field of the entertainment sector from the ground of restaurant, dance bar, spa, dohori to the khaja ghar.
- Lack of bilateral agreement for the rescue and repatriation between countries.

LEARNING

- To minimize the vulnerability of human trafficking, there is the necessity to plan harmony between organization and implementing it.
- Support from the society helps the survivors to move at the forefront and fight against human trafficking.
- Life skill training and Vocational training plays essential role in developing the survivors economically, socially and mentally strong.
- Necessity of the networking and collaboration between the organization working against human trafficking.
- To develop the leadership skill and capacity in the member there is the requirement to plan the program.
- There is the huge significance of the political parties to reduce the human trafficking

Extra Activities of Shakti Samuha in 2017:

- SOCIAL AUDIT PROGRAM

This year Shakti Samuha also organized its social audit program on 5th February, 2018 at Kathmandu. The key objective behind this program is to measure, understand, share, plan, report and ultimately improve an organization's social and ethical performance.

Social Audit is also organized to deliver the organizations' performance reflecting the what, where, when and why of the activities done throughout the year and its transparency and relevancy.

All together 52 people including board members, staff and other stakeholders participated in the program from various working districts of Shakti Samuha. The participants were from different government and non-government organizations, human trafficking survivors' groups/networks, adolescents' groups, Women Protection Committee, journalists, donors, and beneficiaries, members of Shakti Samuha and well-wishers of the organization.
